TRANSFERS ON THIRD AVE. TO BE CUT OFF; RIOTING IS FEARED

After Midnight an Additional Fare Will Be Collected at City Line, and Receiver Whitridge Calls on Bingham for Police Guard.

The system of transfers between the Union Railway Company in the Bronx and the Yonkers Railway Company and the Westchester Electric Railway Company in Westchester will be discontinued at midnight, and Receiver Frederick W. Whitridge, of the Third Avenue system, has asked for police protection to-morrow at transfer points on the city line.

From what he has heard of public sentiment in Westchester since the order for the discontinuance of transfers was issued by Judge Lacombe, of the United States Court, on June 15, he expects a lot of trouble.

Receiver Whitridge claims that the managers of the two big street railway systems in the Bronx have refused to make any arrangement by which the Union Railway could get an equitable share of the receipts growing out of the transfer arrangements. He was perfectly willing, he declares, to continue the scheme if there was anything in it for the Union Railway lines which need all the nickels they can get.

A Legacy From a Donkey.

"The arrangement of transfers" said Receiver Whitridge, "by which residents of Yonkers or Mount Vernon could pay a five cent fare in their cities, and ride all the way to the post office in Manhattan that fare was a legacy to me from a donkey. I cannot imagine how any sensible man, in charge of the affairs of the Union Railway, could have entered into such an agreement."

"The Union Railway is part of the Third Avenue system, of which I am receiver. It is my duty to make the lines pay, and I could do nothing else but ask the court to stop the transfer transactions at the city line."

"We have no objection to carrying our passengers from the Post-Office in Manhattan to Fort George or the Yonkers line or to Two Hundred and Fifth street on the eastern side of the Bronx, for a nickel. But I certainly do object to carrying the people of Westchester twenty-nine miles for practically nothing."

"Swamped by Transfers."

"By the transfer system our south-bound cars were loaded at the junction points with passengers from Westchester, who handed our conductors transfers. These cars ran crowded through the Bronx, and people in our own territory who handed our conductors nickels for their rides had to stand up."

"There would have been something in it for us if the tide ran both ways. But experience showed that the people who rode downtown on our cars, on transfers issued by the Westchester street railways, did not ride back on our cars, and pay us their nickels and allow us to transfer them to Westchester. They wanted to get home in a hurry, and they took the subway or the 'L' to the junction points."

"I went to the Westchester street railway people, and tried to make an arrangement with them, by which a fair proportion of their receipts, induced by our transfers, would go to the Union lines. They refused to give us anything worth considering. I had a number of conferences with the people of Westchester, and the matter, and they seem to think the city railways should carry them downtown for nothing."

No Complaint in Bronx.

"The people in the Bronx have no complaint. I cannot say as much for the Westchester people, because they had a soft thing. In my opinion they will make trouble over the discontinuance of transfers unless the police are on hand to stop them, so I asked Commissioner Bingham for police protection and he has promised to furnish it."

The Yonkers street railways run from the New York city line to Yonkers and contiguous territory in Westchester. The Westchester Electric Railway lines run to Mount Vernon, New Rochelle and Long Island Sound points.

Alderman Take Up Matter.

Receiver Whitridge, in his talk with The Evening World reporter, obtained from saying anything about discontinuing transfer privileges anywhere within the city on the lines of the Union Railway. But that such a suggestion

TAKES BLAME FOR PLIGHT OF GIRL SHOPLIFTER

Man Tells Court He Brought Margaret Clark Here From Pittsburgh.

Since Sept. 20 a tall, remarkably pretty brunette of nineteen, who called herself Margaret Clark and said she lived at No. 125 East Twenty-seventh street, has been in the Tombs, charged with shop-lifting. The charges against her was of excellent quality; her last arrest at $3.85 from a Sixth Avenue department store.

Miss Clark didn't behave as if she had ever been in jail before. Her clothing was of excellent quality, her last arrest at $3.85 from a Sixth Avenue department store.

She appeared to have no friends. To-day her case was called in Special Sessions, where Justices Olmsted, Warratt and Duell were sitting. When the slender, graceful girl came forward from the pen a short, well-dressed man arose at the rear and walked up to the rail and leaned the frightened looking young woman.

FIVE HUNDRED IN RIOT OVER TAXICAB STRIKE

Friends of Chauffeurs in Lively Fight With Police—Reserves Quell Trouble in Front of St. Regis.

More than five hundred persons, sympathizers of the striking chauffeurs, participated in a lively fight with the police in Columbus Avenue between Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets, shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon. Eight persons were finally arrested and all were taken to the West Sixty-eighth street station.

Inspector Walsh and Capt. Reldy, of the West Sixty-eighth street station, were in charge of the policemen. The crowd had to be driven away by the police, who drew their nightsticks, and mounted men cleared the sidewalks.

Among those arrested was Joseph Murphy, delegate of the Teamsters' Union. Two men were hit on the head with stones and they went to the Roosevelt Hospital, where they had their wounds dressed.

Attack a Cab.

In front of the Hotel Gotham and Hotel St. Regis earlier in the afternoon, there was plenty of excitement when a cab was attacked by a crowd of strike sympathizers.

Stones were hurled about and the fight became so hot that reserves from the East Fifty-first street station were sent to the scene. The windows in the cab were broken and the chauffeur, who was guarded by a special policeman, put on full power and sped up Fifth Avenue. When the reserves arrived on the scene everything was quiet.

In front of the Hotel Navarre, Seventh Avenue and Thirty-seventh street, there was another fight. The chauffeur and special policemen were stoned and the cab badly damaged. The machine sped down Seventh Avenue and the crowd of strike sympathizers got away before the reserves from the West Thirty-seventh street police station arrived.

Get an Injunction.

The New York Taxicab Company this afternoon obtained an injunction from Justice Blanchard restraining its striking chauffeurs from acts of violence and interference with its business.

In the injunction Archibald Rogers, president of the Chauffeurs' Protective Union; John Thornton, president of the United Teamsters' Union, and Edwin Gould, president of the Liberty Dawn Hack Drivers' Union, are expressly named, with eight other strike leaders.

One of the strikers' executive committee declared that they had the support of 30,000 union men in New York, and would ruin certain Tammany politicians, whom they blame for the trouble. The drivers' Union are expressly named, with eight other strike leaders.

The troubles of the red taxicabs began early to-day, when James Hennessey, the first strike-breaking driver to leave the Fifty-sixth street garage of the New York Taxicab Company, was pocketed by the driver of a huge brewery auto truck, and his machine smashed. In the collision the special

National League Board Declares Protested Game a Draw and Gives Permission for Contest to Decide the Pennant.

ONE MORE VICTORY AND NEW YORK TIES CHICAGO.

McGraw Declines to Discuss Decision Until After Final Game To-Morrow—Contest Will Probably Be Played in New York.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—The Board of Directors of the National League to-day decided the game between the Giants and Chicago Sept. 23 to be a tie. The clubs were given permission to play the game off "if requested by the New York Club."

As unofficially given out the statement was that as New York had been prevented from playing off the tie game on the subsequent days of the strike at Chicago, that team had been unable to play that particular game through the failure of an official of the league, and it should therefore be permitted to play off the game at a later date if its management so wished and the condition of the pennant race called for such action.

It was stated that the full text of the decision would be given out later in the day and would go into the matter at considerable length.

There is a possibility of a three-hand tie for first place between New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh if the playing off of the "tie" game is regarded as completing the schedule for the Giants and Cubs. If the Giants should lose one of the games with Boston and then defeat the Cubs again, the three clubs, New York, Chicago and Pittsburgh, would be tied with 98 games won and 56 lost, a percentage of .636.

In that case an unprecedented situation would develop, and the league directors would have to arrange a series of games among the three clubs.

THE GAME.

BY BOZEMAN BULGER.

POLO GROUNDS, Oct. 6.—The Giants won another game from Boston this afternoon in a close contest. The score of 4 to 1. All New York has to do now is to win to-morrow and Chicago will be tied for the championship. Manager McGraw and his players were somewhat disappointed at the decision of the Board of Directors of the League in deciding the famous protested game.

McGraw says that he is not in a position to make a statement regarding the playing off of the tie game until he has seen President Brush upon his return from Cincinnati.

First Inning.

Bridwell tossed out Becker. Bates flied a fly to Donlin. Bridwell threw out Brown. NO RUNS.

Second Inning.

McGraw flied to Seymour. Bridwell threw out Sweeney. Dahlgren got a life on Tenney's miff of Herzog's throw. Hannan threw out McGraw. McGraw flied to Donlin. NO RUNS.

Third Inning.

Donlin struck out. So did Seymour. Devlin walked. Devlin stole second. Brennan fouled to Bowman. NO RUNS.

Fourth Inning.

Becker singled past short and took third on Becker's fumble. Browne made a beautiful catch of White's fly to center. Tenney struck out. Herzog drove a long fly to Brown. NO RUNS.

Fifth Inning.

Sweeney singled to right. Dahlgren popped up to Sweeney. Sweeney stole second. Hannan flied to Tenney. Bowman was purposely allowed to
